

Abstract

A survey was conducted during the period 1979–1982 to identify viruses affecting tomatoes in the Jordan Valley. Results indicated the rare occurrence of mosaic diseases caused by tobacco mosaic virus, cucumber mosaic virus, or potato virus Y. However, tomato yellow leaf curl virus was predominant.